Athletic-Cultural Association Sponsoring Many Activities

The Vulcan and District Athletic and Cultural Association, formed last Spring, promises to be a live-wire organization. In an endeavour to start small and expand while remaining on a solid basis, the Association started off the year by sponsoring the Junior Baseball Club. This entailed new uniforms and a great deal of equipment. The next project was a large district Inter-Scholastic Track and Field Meet. While the meet itself was a pronounced success, the Association went to a great deal of expense to ensure the success and it is to be an annual affair with strong possibilities of adding water sports another year.

Latest project to be undertaken by the Association will be the Junior Baseball Tournament here on Wednesday afternoon, August 6th. Teams competing will be Nanton, Blackie, Brant and Vulcan. The draw is at 1:00 o'clock with the first game starting at 1:30 p.m. On the same bill is a ladies softball tournament with Nanton, Lomond, Carmangay and Vulcan competing.

A fairly good membership has been enrolled, and a complete list of members and those who have made donations will be published in the Advocate in an early issue.

An application by the Juvenile Hockey Club for inclusion in the Association was accepted. The next meeting will be held on August 13th. At this meeting anyone who is interested in Hockey or Winter sport are cordially invited to attend. The idea of having an instructor come in to teach fancy skating is also under consideration.

At the last meeting it was also decided to invite several organizations to attend the August 13th meeting with regard to putting on several plays during the winter.

During the signing of the register Miss Jean Gardner sang "I Love You Truly".

Following the ceremony a reception for fifty relatives and close friends was held at the home of the bride's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Merle Smith. Assisting the bride couple in receiving were the mother of the bride and the mother of the groom. Mrs. Smith wore a pale green broadcated dress with white accessories and a corsage of pink carnations. Mrs. Campbell was attired in a black and white ensemble and wore a corsage of pink carnations.

Mr. Hansell proposed the toast to the bride to which the groom responded.

The table was centred with a three tiered wedding cake and decorated with vases of pink and white carnations, and daisies. The cake was cut by the bride and groom.

After the serving of lunch the bride and groom were presented with a lovely decorated basket filled with many gifts for their new home. The happy couple thanked all of their friends and extended them an invitation to visit them when they were settled.

The bride chose a blue suit with which she wore a rose hat, for her honeymoon. Following a short stay in Calgary and Banff Mr. and Mrs. Campbell will make their home in the district.

Rain Badly Needed; Wind Takes Heavy Toll Crops

Lack of rain, high temperatures and strong winds have all caused deterioration in crop prospects the past two weeks.

According to farmers interviewed by the Advocate, the high winds of Monday did considerable damage to many fields. Evidence of the wind's force is visible even in town, where many limbs were torn off trees and other damage done, and it is estimated that damage to some fields may run as high as fifty percent.

JANUARY OR JULY?

EDITOR WILLIS of the Stettler Independent puts up a very good case for January rather than July. He thinks it is high time we quit putting such value on our dog days, and concentrated instead on boosting the joys of January. He takes thought of the energy and well-being that we experience in the winter, compared with the inertia of the summer. He points to all the weather worry that we go through during the crop season, whereas in winter it's all over. We can take things as they come, and nothing matters but the daily round of keeping the heating system going, striding manfully to work, attending hockey games, curling and so on.

Worse still in summer instead of safeguarding our diminished energy, we go rushing round like mad, always on the move. "And" he adds, "as soon as we reach our destination, we wish to be some place else. Nobody has any sense in the summer because we think it is the time of the year to visit the great open spaces. In winter we stay put and have leisure to meditate on what life is for."

"Those who are living in the north claim it is the best life after all. I have known young men who have lived in the tropics and then moved to the great north. They say that there is no comparison. In the north they have found every day giving them the urge for work and activity."

Perhaps Editor Willis has something in his idea that we should "build up" our winters as something helpful, energizing and valuable. Undeniably most people feel more vigorous in the winter, especially if they have the outdoor habit, and have learned to enjoy the sports and exercise which only a cold climate can provide.

It may be because we are always carrying pictures of verdant scenes and summer beauty that we favor the hot weather. The monotony of the long months of snowbound vistas begins to oppress us, and we are impatient for the rarer, fairer beauty of green fields and flowers in bloom. Perhaps if we had no such variation, we might learn to make the most of our winter virtues, instead of wasting time in wishing for July.

Come to think of it the countries which have the full range of climatic experience are happily situated. They know the zest which comes from bracing cold, and through force of contrast, they savor to fullest degree the burgeoning of nature and the luxuriance of summer growth. Each season brings new scenes, new sports, new activities, new duties. Neither January nor July have everything, but almost every month of the year has some charm.

Pertinent Topics

Discussed by H.C.

Lack of variety of foods allowed and obtainable in the United Kingdom makes the victualling there monotonous as well as meagre and austere, and the prospect is not very good for any brightening of the picture. It is quite possible that in some individual cases austerity has been salutary and that enforced abstinence has benefitted many who were won't to enjoy too freely the pleasures of the table.

In olden days and up to the Victorian and Edwardian era, the English were valiant trenchermen. Rev. Francis Kilvert who was a vicar near the Welsh border kept a diary which has recently been published, and here is the entry for Tuesday, Feb'y 4th, 1879:

At 7 p.m. the farmers came to dine at the vicarage. I had ten guests. The dinner was very nice,—white soup, roast beef, boiled chickens and ham, curried rabbit, stewed wood-pigeon, beef-steak pie, potatoes and stewed celery, plum pudding, custard, plum tart, mince pies, apricot jam tart.

Ernest Bevin ventures there will be no other great war during our generation. It is all right to talk that way so long as he acts on the contrary assumption.

Premier Remadier of France fears we cannot carry on in Europe without Russia. His fears arise not from the strength of Russia but from the strength of the Communist party in France.

U. S. Senator C. A. Eaton thinks we are in range of a shooting war in Europe. That is a more realistic approach than

CRUEL COWBOYS

THERE have been a number of letters in the Calgary papers protesting the cruelty involved in rodeo or stampede entertainment. They see nothing in such exhibitions but the most wanton torment of animals, and they cry out with a loud voice against it. One "Englishwoman" writing from Toronto, says that newspaper pictures and accounts of the Calgary Stampede were viewed with horror by many people in Toronto. She says "One gets the impression that the west is peopled by good stock of the British Empire. Yet such exhibitions of cruelty are allowed such as broncho busting and cattle throwing. When such exhibitions were put on in London, England, some years ago, the public witnessing such brutality would have none of it."

Other letters in similar vein seem to have missed entirely the features which thrill the westerners of this continent. As one example, a stock cutting contest is a remarkable study in team work of man and horse to outwit the beef critter that doesn't want to be cut out of the herd. It is a demonstration of skill of high order. At first there might be sympathy for the poor little calves racing down a field dodging a rope. But before long sympathy swerves entirely to the frustrated pursuers engaged in calf roping. The calves are just too smart. After seeing men piled from long horn vicious looking steers one would say that the Brahmas had all the best of the contest. Steer decorating can be a brilliant, skilful performance and it is hard to see where there is any cruelty involved. As for broncho busting, a mere spectator is perhaps not in position to say whether or not it is evidence of man's inhumanity to stock. But the fact remains that on almost every ranch there are bad horses that are outlaws in every sense of the word. Some of them continue untamable, untrustworthy, unpredictable twisters to the finish. They put up a terrific show in the course of daily routine on the ranch, real exhibition stuff. What's the matter with rounding up these bad hombres of the ranches, and making something out of them as rodeo material, to do their stuff before the grandstand.

The point is that almost all features of Stampede exhibitions stem from authentic ranch action. They are a glorified sample of the skills and contests which cowboys practice on home ground. It is true they are speeded up and dramatized for show work, but they are native to our country. We appreciate the stamina and dexterity of the human competitors, and consider that the animals in the picture have developed great facility in looking after themselves. More than that there seems to be quite as much respect over injury to any animal as to a human contestant.

One can realize that with the absence of any traditional background, rodeo features would not be popular in England. In this country a good many people consider fox hunting cruel and foolish, and game shooting as practised in game preserves does not appeal to us as very sporting.

But we enjoy rodeos because they are a glorified extension of reality. And our admiration is still for the riders who have the nerve to go up against these bad horses and Brahmas.

Mr. Shinwell the British Fuel Controller, is disappointed in the production results reached by the coal miners under the new condition, but he says most of them are "pulling their weight." After deploring and resisting the excesses of the Stern gang and Ingur Svei Leime for some time, the third Jewish organization, Haganah, has joined up with them. One can but guess the underlying motive. It may have grown weary in well-doing or it may have concluded that the ruthless tactics which it disapproved are going to succeed.

When a politician decides to do something contrary to what is expected of him, the reason he gives is seldom the right one and assuredly not the main one. The reason Haganah gives for its volte face is that Britain sent a large vessel laden with illegal Jewish immigrants back to France. (Hitherto she has been sending them to Cyprus). This may be ruled out as an excuse, a flimsy one at that, for why should a virtuous man cavil as to whether they were sent to Cyprus or France? The real reason must be sought elsewhere.

Wealthy Jews in the United States have been subsidizing the two underground agencies that have been disturbing the peace of Palestine for so long. The agencies were making money on the side by robbing banks and jewelry stores there. Can it be that Haganah's virtue oozed out of its fingertips at the sight of so much loot going to rival organizations?

Duke of Windsor Writes Memoirs

The Duke of Windsor, according to press news, has to make more money or reduce his standard of living. So he is busy completing the memoirs of his life up to the year of his abdication in 1936. A publication of these memoirs might bring him in money to relieve the situation.

It is said that he had hoped to get a government position by British appointment, and that he now spends 6 or 7 hours daily in writing at his villa in the south of France. Further reports are that he intends to publish a history of the Anglo Saxons nations compiled by American and British historians, and that he may do a movie script of Queen Victoria.

Leduc area continues as top news in the oil world, with continuing success for developers. Imperial Oil Company has got its sixth consecutive well in the field. The sixth well was tested at 5359 feet, with a steady flow comparable with No. 4 which brought 60 barrels an hour on test. The wells are about quarter-of-a-mile apart. No. 7 well is still drilling and No. 8 has about 200 feet to go. Feeder lines are being laid to the main transmission line from Leduc field to the railway 8 miles east. But the main line of piping has not yet been laid.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Gorsche was the scene of a post-nuptial shower, one evening recently, in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Davidson, of Vancouver, B.C. Mrs. Davidson is the former Mildred Castator of Champion, whose wedding was an event of July 4. The rooms were decorated with pale green and white streamers and garden flowers. The singing of songs and a social hour was enjoyed by the 25 guests present. Mrs. Gordon Urquhart of Kirkcaldy, on behalf of those assembled, presented the newlyweds with the numerous lovely gifts, stowed in a gaily decorated wagon, with all good wishes for their happiness. Mr. and Mrs. Davidson responded with words of appreciation. A dainty lunch was served by the hostess assisted by a few of the ladies. The singing of "Auld Lang Syne" brought the pleasant evening to a close.

"RAVING BEAUTY"

A prairie Cinderella, Iris Boyd, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Boyd, of Brandon, Man., has been named Canada's "Raving Beauty" in competition with hundreds of girls from every province of the Dominion in a national photographic beauty contest. The 19-year-old cosmetician receives as the grand prize a trip to Montreal and New York. In Montreal she will be presented with an all-Canadian wardrobe with which to make her Manhattan trip. She will be interviewed over a national network broadcast in New York, receive a movie audition, and go on an extensive round of entertainments. Born in Austin, Man., about 85 miles from Winnipeg, Miss Boyd was educated at Brandon. The raving beauty contest was the first competition of its kind she has ever entered.

A Univ. of Texas professor has said that United States could wipe out 75 million Russians in 24 hours without losing 100 men. That is not peace talk, but this professor says the Russians know the facts.

Norman Jaques, Social Credit member for Wetaskiwin and bitter anti-Jew and anti-Communist has charged Matthew Halton and Elmore Philpott with communistic leanings. This has brought strong protest from Halton.

Items From Bob Edwards' Inimitable "Eye Opener"

In the issue of High River Eye Opener, Sept. 1, 1943, Bob Edwards places the stamp of approval on the new building on Refreshment Ave., and other signs of an up-and-coming town. He calls attention to a big celebration at Athabasca Landing, and then settles down to a play-by-play account of a horse deal in which the livery man finally gets rid of his aged gray mare

High River Eye Opener
September 1, 1943

The health of the town is mostly all that can be desired, the few on the sick list being all right again.

The new livery stable facing Refreshment Avenue is going ahead rapidly, while the addition to the Royal is even now ready for the housewarming dance.

Rev. Wm. Barr is at Ottawa asking a bonus for bringing over 2500 settlers from England to farm the Barr colony. He says he got commissions from the transportation line but that only came to $13,000 and he spent most of it in London. He wants Ottawa to appreciate his services.

The Calgary Fish and Game Association has called a convention from all parts of the province to try to stop the terrible slaughter of fish and game. The following from this area have been asked to attend the meeting: D. E. Riley, High River; M. Millar, Millarville; Col. Wyndham, Gladys; H. Banister, Davisburg; J. Ockley, Priddis.

A station agent has been located at Nanton. This should prove a blessing to stray drunks from neighboring burghs who have occasion to wire for money.

You never really know a man unless you allow yourself to owe him money.

The carpenters making good progress on the new school and the roof is going on this week. It is the most conspicuous object on the landscape. If they would just put a dome on it, instead of the roof it would look like St. Paul's Cathedral.

"He looked well," admitted the man in the sweater, "unless you got close to him. Did you take off his blanket, or did you say it would be bad for his cough if you took it off?"

Athabasca Landing is to have a grand celebration on Labor day in honor of her attainment as the most northerly city in Canada with full connection with the rest of the world. Hon. Thomas Lilac of Lesser Slave Lake will address the assembled throng on the Panama canal problem and its probable effect on the town of Grouard.

That Horse Deal

The man in the sweater made his daily survey of one of the local livery stables. "Did you trade that fellow the gray horse?" he asked the proprietor.

"I had to," replied the livery man. "I couldn't get away from it. I done my best not to trade because I needed that gray, the best looking horse in the barn."

"Pshaw, that horse doesn't cough."

"Just nervousness I suppose" said the man in the sweater.

"He don't chew his oats very good and the husks stick in his throat once in awhile. Go to feeding any horse off the range, and he makes a hog of himself."

"How did you explain the way he eats his feed box?"

"It don't hurt a horse to eat a little wood if he don't go to extremes."

"Not a particle. I always did say the gray horse was good. You can ride him just bout as well as you can drive him. If he'd get over the habit of trying to get both feet over the dash board at once, he'd be a nice lady's horse. What started him kicking?"

"Oh, just the colt in h.m. He's not a day over twenty. Mind you I tried to get that dealer's mind on the sorrel and the old roan and the dandy team of blacks. But the more I tried not to sell the gray, the more he wanted him. He asked how old the gray was and I said rising eight and probably more. The final upshot was he gave me $20 and an old wolf robe. So the deal was made."

"Was the lan robe any good?"

"It didn't need to be did it. The $20 was good."

It was stated in the House of Commons that it might take Russia 10 or 20 years to bring war potential up to U.S.A. strength

A colony of New Dayton Hutterites has purchased a large block of land in Montana. The price paid is said to be $228,000, with $18,000 worth of tractors and such machinery.

12 Point Plan In Conservation

At the annual meeting of the Canadian Agricultural Institute held at Lethbridge, Dr. E. S. Hopkins, associate director of Dominion experimental farm outlined a 12 point program for long range conservation of soils.

His suggestions:

1—That the program be a permanent one applying, as far as possible, to all parts of Canada.

2—That emphasis be placed on conservation problems according to their importance.

In eastern Canada the main problems were soil fertility, drainage, erosion, proper land use and flood control. In the prairie provinces they were soil drifting, water erosion, land use and soil fertility. In British Columbia there was a wide variation in climate and topography and problems differed in the various zones.

3—That the Dominion's soil survey be continued and expanded to secure information on the various soil types found in Canada.

4—That an agronomic study follow the soil survey in order to learn "the soil fertility requirements and crop adaptation of the various soil types."

5—Establishment of more meteorological observation stations to keep detailed records of precipitation and temperatures.

6—Development of a plan for the use of sub-marginal lands in various parts of Canada.

7—Preparation of suggestions "in regard to improved farm lease forms applicable to various parts of Canada so that in time soil would tend to become more, rather than less, productive."

8—Provision of inducements for farmers to promote adoption of soil conservation practices.

9—A study of the apportionment of irrigation costs.

10—Favoring of the farmer where game laws interfere with shooting birds or animals which attack his crops.

11—Equal representation of urban and rural groups where flood control affects the property of each.

12—Continuation of the institute's work in scientific agriculture.

Mrs. Gladys Strum, M.P. for Qu'Appelle has adopted eight Czechs and two Spaniards. All are little orphans with tragic history.

M.D. Health Plan For Alberta

A voluntary health insurance law for Alberta will be proposed at the annual convention of the Medical Association to be held in September.

The health insurance proposal as envisioned by the A.M.A. will offer voluntary prepared medical care to the public. An organization will be inaugurated to handle the scheme at a low cost.

Dr. Bramley-Moore, registrar, said a similar scheme in British Columbia by the B.C. Medical Services Association costs a family an average of $3.56 a month. That, he added, would be approximately the charge to Albertans.

He said that at a cost of about

R. B.'s Fortune Slowly Built

(Frank Flaherty, in Toronto Saturday Night.)

It is not likely Canada will ever see another Bennett because the times that created him will never come again. He grew up with a fast-growing country and a grown-up country does not produce the same kind of man. Taxation, for one thing, will not allow a man to accumulate as much wealth in a whole lifetime, let alone in a part of a lifetime, with a good many years left over for public service. His wealth began in savings from a small income, grew with a growing income and with investments in a developing area. He went to Calgary in 1897 after a few years as a practising lawyer in his native New Brunswick. One day as he relaxed on a train he told the writer how things started.

"When I got to Calgary all I had was a $500 bill, a few odd dollars and a few boxes of books. The first few years were pretty tough. I made less than $1,000 a year but I always spent less than I made. I never paid more than a few dollars a month for my room until later on when I had to move into the hotel. I never had a car. There were other fellows who went there about the same time. They spent much more money. They bought cars and built fine houses. None of them got anything ahead of them but I made a couple of million dollars."—From Lethbridge Herald.

$42 a year every Alberta family could buy their own medical care in advance and have their choice of any medical man in the province.

More flying saucers have been sighted all over the continent, but scientists have very little to say.

Wheat Pool Pays Cash and Reserves

The Alberta Wheat Pool has completed the distribution of $850,000 cash and $1,145,000 in reserves to members who delivered grain to Alberta Pool elevators in the three crop years 1943-44, 1944-45 and 1945-46.

Last year approximately $940,000 in reserves was distributed to member patrons from 1943-44 and 1944-45 earnings, so that the total distribution for the past three crop years in the form of cash and reserves is $2,940,000.

The Alberta Wheat Pool pointed out that between 1923 and 1928 reserve contributions from members totalled $8,487,000, this money being used to build the pool elevator system and provide working capital. Since 1942 the organization has purchased ratably from members at 100 cents on the dollar over $2,500,000 of these reserves.

In addition the delegates at the last annual meeting authorized the appropriation of $1,600,000 to purchase reserves held by estates of deceased members and by members in certain older age groups who ceased to have any interest in farming.

A large portion of this has already been paid out. When the entire amount has been disbursed, the Alberta Wheat Pool will have purchased over $4,100,000 of the original $8,487,000.

The reserves so purchased are being re-issued in the form of patronage dividends along with cash distribution. The ownership of the co-operative is thus passing from the estates of deceased members and from members who have retired from farming into the hands of farmers who are using pool elevator facilities.

"I have travelled 11,000 miles with excellent gas consumption and no oil consumption at all. It has been used over Northern roads which are generally harder on a car and has stood the test to my utmost satisfaction." J. G. Stacey, Toronto

"We were going to split our feet into two makes of cars, but since seeing the way the Chevrolet performs, we have DEFINITELY decided to have all some time to get delivery, we feel that it is worth waiting for." I. R. Bost, The Motor Buggy Co. of Canada Ltd., Hamilton, P.Q.

"I am driving a new Chevrolet purchased from you some months ago... Complete freedom from trouble with low cost of operation and high quality of material and workmanship in this car, makes me very pleased with my Chevrolet." E. B. McNeill

"To date I have driven my Chevrolet Stylemaster Sedan 4000 miles over some very bad roads... Of its many outstanding features the two things that impressed me the most were: Chevrolet's easy riding qualities combined with unbelievable high gasoline mileage." Thos. J. Harrett, Fort William Ontario

"The brakes are a wonderful feature and my faith and confidence in them is something I have never been able to parallel in any car I have driven. The motor responds like a charm even in our extreme cold weather here in Winnipeg." H. A. Partridge, Winnipeg, Manitoba

"I was amazed with the performance of the car, its smoothness and its pick-up ability in passing other cars in tight cases. In checking the oil at 1150 miles, I found the car had used one half pint of oil." Harold Thompson, Vancouver, B.C.

WHEN people are pleased it's natural for them to say "thank-you". But never, apparently, have any car owners been so pleased as those lucky enough to own a 1947 Chevrolet. Their enthusiastic "thank-you" letters stream in from every nook and cranny of the Dominion—from fleet operators and businessmen, from purchasers in every trade and occupation. And each letter says in a different way—"I know now from experience that Chevrolet's proud boast is true—only Chevrolet offers Big Car Quality at Low Cost!"

• The growing demand for the New Chevrolet is setting an all-time record. We cannot hope for many months to fill all the orders pouring in. If you are among the many who have set your sights on Chevrolet's Big Car Quality at Low Cost, we suggest that while you wait, you rely on your Chevrolet Dealer's service to keep your present car running smoothly and safely.
